Web of Science Researcher Profiles (profiluri de cercetători)

The screenshot shows the Web of Science interface for a researcher profile. At the top, the 'Web of Science' logo is on the left, and 'Search' and 'Research Assistant' are in the center. On the right, the user's name 'Adriana Filip' is displayed. Below the navigation bar, the breadcrumb trail reads 'Search > Results for University of Ba... > Author Profile'. A vertical menu on the left contains icons for home, search, profile, and notifications. The main content area features a profile card for 'Emilian Mosnegutu' with a verified status (green checkmark). The profile includes a circular avatar with the initials 'EM', the name 'Emilian Mosnegutu', the affiliation 'University of Bacau', and the 'Web of Science ResearcherID: B-1259-2015'. Below this, there are sections for 'Published names' (listing variations like 'Mosnegutu, Emilian'), 'Published Organizations' (University of Bacau, Vasile Alexandri Univ Bacau), and 'Subject Categories' (Engineering; Environmental Sciences & Ecology; Chemistry; Metallurgy & Metallurgical Engineering; Automation & Control Systems). To the right of the profile card, there are three action buttons: 'Share', 'Submit a correction', and 'Add alert'. Below these is a 'Verify your Author Record' section with a 'Go to author search' button. At the bottom right, a 'Metrics' section shows '109 Total documents' and '91 Publications indexed in Web of Science', with an 'Open dashboard' button and a help icon.

Profilurile de cercetător Web of Science permit autorilor de cercetări să își listeze într-un singur loc publicațiile, indicatorii de citare și recenziile peer review.

Profilul este ușor de gestionat, poate fi exportat pentru a fi utilizat ca dovadă în diverse aplicații și oferă informații despre istoricul de publicații al unui cercetător.

The screenshot displays the Web of Science user interface. At the top, a notification banner reads "Greetings Nina Gracia! We have added 3 new publications to your profile since January 1st 2023." with a "View your publications" button. Below this, the main interface shows the "My publication records" section. A green box highlights the "Quick filters" area, which includes checkboxes for "Web of Science Core Collection publications" and "Automatically added". The main content area lists three publications, each with a "Delete" button and a "Not indexed" status. The first publication is "Prototypage rapide d'applications d'imagerie médicale exploitant un casque de réalité virtuelle" (2017-03-01). The second is "Utilisation d'un moteur de développement de jeux video pour le développement d'une application basique d'imagerie médicale" (2017-03-01). The third is "Intimai flap segmentation on CTA aortic dissection images based on mathematical morphology" (2013-12-16). A blue circle with the number "18" and a question mark is visible in the bottom right corner of the interface.

Dacă aveți un profil care conține deja cel puțin o publicație din Core Collection, noile publicații din Core Collection și preprinturi vor fi adăugate automat la profilul dvs.

- Nu este instantaneu: este posibil să dureze câteva zile pentru ca documentele să fie încărcate automat.
- Veți primi un e-mail atunci când o publicație a fost adăugată. Puteți să le respingeți pe cele care nu vă aparțin.

Adăugarea de publicații direct din documente

The screenshot shows a research article page with an export menu open. The article title is "Antiretrovirals for low income countries: an analysis of the commercial viability of a highly complex market". The author is Nakakeeto, ON (Nakakeeto, Olive N.) ; Elliott, BV (Elliott, Brian V.). The journal is GLOBALIZATION AND HEALTH, Volume 9, Article Number 6, DOI: 10.1186/1744-8603-9-6, Published: FEB 15 2013, Indexed: 2013-04-03, Document Type: Article.

The export menu is open, showing options: EndNote online, EndNote desktop, Add to my researcher profile (highlighted with a green box), Plain text file, RefWorks, RIS (other reference software), BibTeX, Excel, Tab delimited file, Printable HTML file, FECYT CVN, Email, and More Export Options.

The article abstract is: "Background: The price of antiretroviral drugs (ARVs) in low income countries declined steadily in recent years. This raises concern about the viability of the market of ARVs in low income countries. Methods: Using 2 costing scenarios, we modeled the production cost of the most commonly used ARVs in low income countries and assessed whether, at the median price paid by low income countries, their manufacturers would still make profits. By interviews we consulted 11 generic manufacturers on the current state of the ARV market, and on what would be required to ensure their continued commitment to supply ARVs to low income countries. Results: Using the lowest prices for active pharmaceutical ingredients (API) quoted to WHO, and applying published assumptions about the production cost of ARVs, our baseline estimate was that Indian generic manufacturers would have made profits on only 1 out of 13 formulations of ARVs in both 2010 and 2012, and publicly owned manufacturers would have made profits on 5 and 3 out of 13 formulations in 2010 and 2012, respectively. We needed to assume a 20% and a 40% lower API cost for our model to predict that publicly owned and Indian manufacturers, respectively, would make profits on the sale of the majority of their ARVs. Between 2010 and 2012, we estimate that - across the ARV portfolio - the gross profit on sales of ARVs to low income countries decreased with between 6% and 7% of their sales price. Generic manufacturers consider that current prices are unsustainable. They suggested amendments to the tender procedures, simplified regulatory procedures, improved forecasting, and simplification of the ARV guidelines as critical improvements to maintain a viable ARV market. Conclusions: While recent price decreases indicate that there is still space for price reduction, our estimate that gross profit margin on sales decreased by 6 to 7% between 2010 and 2012 lends credibility to assertions by generic manufacturers that the ARV market in low income countries is under considerable price pressure. This might create problems for the quality and/or the continued supply of ARVs to low income countries."

The right sidebar shows "Citing items by classification" with a breakdown: Background (1), Basis (0), Support (0), Differ (0). There is a "19 Cited References" section and a "View Related Records" link.

Below the tabs, it says '8 Publications from the Web of Science Core Collection'. There is a filter option: 'Include publications not indexed in Core Collection (0)'. Below that, there are dropdown menus for 'All Publications' and 'Date: Newest first', and a pagination indicator '1 of 1'.
